

I have been enrolled in Indiana's "no call" list since July. I have received only ONE telephone solicitation in that time, when I had previously received 4-6 a DAY. I am against any federal law that would pre-empt the Indiana one. You're more than welcome to duplicate an effective one that already works -- Indiana's! -- but I would hate to go back to dreading the phone ringing and being subjected to telephone solicitors (and half the time it is RECORDED, not even a live person).

Please reconsider.
